

My three goals for this semester are as follows:

1. I will plan out my week and create a schedule for 30 minutes on the Monday of each week of this semester in order to help keep myself up to date with my work.
2. I will work on my finance personal project for 1 to 2 hours every day this semester in order to make sure that I am working on things that I enjoy and enhancing my skills at the same time.
3. I will go to the gym and workout for at least 30 minutes every day in order to keep myself happy and healthy.

I believe that these goals are specific because they directly address specific actions I will take to reach my goal. These goals are measurable as I have created deadlines to keep myself accountable. These goals are achievable and relevant because they are directly connected to my major goals for this semester and are not impossible to complete. Lastly, my goals are time-bound as I set aside time to achieve my goals and specify the length of time that I will be carrying out these goals.
